Wheat Pool

Sign-up Week August 20 to 25

Alberta has decided to have a voluntary Wheat Pool. The Government, the U. F. A., farmers outside the U. F. A., the business men of towns and cities, all classes are united in favoring a Wheat Pool as the surest method of improving marketing conditions—of helping the farmer—of increasing the general prosperity in this province.

A provincial Wheat Pool Committee has been named, and has been working out the details of operation, including contract, financing and so forth.

This committee is confident about the outcome, providing that the farmers themselves show now—now that they have the chance to get it—that they actually want a Wheat Pool, and are ready to go into one.

How can that be shown? In one way only. By signing up with the Pool. By signing the contract.

Contract Sign-up Week has been fixed to begin August 20th. In that week it is hoped to reach every farmer in Alberta. Unless 30 percent of the farmers sign the contract there will be no Pool. This is your opportunity. If you want the Pool, sign the contract. If you don't want the Pool, refuse to sign and there will be no Pool. There is no halfway about it. Signing means success. No signing means go on as you have been going.

Contract forms and all information are being sent to the U. F. A. secretaries, M. L. A.'s, Boards of Trade and town officers. Get in your name as a worker. Find out what you have to do. Get your neighbours in. Fast work is required now to get into operation this year. Cover your district thoroughly.

Here's your chance to get a real Wheat Pool. Seize it if you want it.

Following the visit of Aaron Sapir, co-operative marketing expert, to the province last week, formation of a wheat pool for the handling of this year's crop will be undertaken under the supervision of a committee of seventeen representing all classes. The committee has now been formed and is preparing the campaign for the organization of the pool. The provincial government will advance funds for the initial cost of organization, and will have a representative on the committee in charge. The committee in charge of the organization is as follows:

The Approaching Harvest

According to the most reliable reports by banks, elevator companies, railways and Government departments available at the time of writing this feature, Western Canada is on the eve of harvesting the greatest wheat crop in its history. Conditions in all three Prairie Provinces are reported as being unduly favorable, with losses and adverse conditions applicable only to comparatively small and isolated districts.

The net result is a generally accepted estimate of a crop of 500,000,000 bushels of wheat, not to speak of other grains. Such a production means hundreds of millions of bushels of an exportable surplus, for which Canada must find a market in other countries. At the same time it is estimated that the United States will have an exportable surplus of 200,000,000 bushels as well as a surplus carried over from last year. Crop conditions in Australia and the Argentine are reported as good, and it is even predicted that Russia will have wheat for export, although the condition of the Russian transportation systems may make shipment difficult.

With such a volume of wheat for sale it is inevitable that world prices will fall, especially as some of the European nations which in previous years were large buyers of wheat are now unable to purchase largely because of their depreciated currency and lack of credit. The sale of the 1925 wheat crop at a price which will yield a fair margin of profit to the farmer is, therefore, one of the biggest problems confronting Canada at the present time.

Another problem created by such a record crop is now some well nigh insurmountable. It is estimated that from 50,000 to 60,000 men will have to be brought into the West for this purpose. With a heavy call for farm labor there is danger of unduly high wages being demanded—that is, wages higher than the selling price of the wheat will warrant the farmer paying. It would seem, therefore, a wise precaution for farmers to take to write agents and relatives in the East inviting them to come out and assist them in the harvest.

A third big task which the 1925 crop will impose on the country is the work of transportation. Fortunately, both our railway systems are well equipped for the task, and better equipped than ever before. Increased terminals facilities have also been created, and unless there is congestion in local traffic on the railways, all should go well. Present prospects, also, are for a comparatively early harvest, and this will prove a most helpful factor both in harvesting and threshing operations and in transportation.

With a heavy crop all over the country to be threshed, there will be apprehension among some farmers that they will not be able to get threshed within reasonable time after cutting, and consequently—a temptation to purchase their own outfits, although such an investment may be considerably beyond their resources and they may lack the experience necessary to successful operation of threshing machines. Wisdom would dictate a policy of "going slow" in the purchase of very expensive machinery on the strength of one exceptionally heavy crop and present conditions.

On the other hand, with no Wheat Board in existence and no possibility of creating a voluntary co-operative pooling system for this year's crop, great necessity exists for the most extensive co-operation by individual farmers in their respective local districts. They should endeavor to devise local methods of co-operation, whereby, instead of competing one one against the other, they would pool their efforts in the engagement and distribution of farm help. In the securing and distribution of threshing outfits, in the marketing and selling of their crops and in general in the development of plans not related to advance their mutual interests.

Such local co-operative arrangements have proved of value and substantial profit to farmers in certain districts in past years. Some schemes can be devised in most districts if the farmers only get together to work it out. When it applies in one place, may not be feasible elsewhere, but if a spirit of mutual confidence and willingness to compromise differences, or to plan locally in any given district, untold advantages will accrue to those who make an earnest attempt at local co-operation the one with the other.

Canada's Lobster Industry

Constantinople Nuisance City

This importance and extent of the Constantinople is said to be the lobster industry in Canada may be judged also in the world. At the gathered from a recent showing that agent intervals night fishermen are there are said to be engaged in this set with long thick clubs beat herring business in the Maritime Provinces, upon the shores of the street. Cats, comprising more than 5,000 people as dogs and wandering drunks made fishermen and peddlers, and with an almost impossible to sleep. Just because of the noise and the crowd, the fishermen are said to be in a state of mind, they begin to fill the air with their whole voice when they are away.

Mrs. L. Whiting, 202 King St. West, Brockville, Ont., writes:—

"I took very sick with my nerves and stomach, and seemed to be all run down. At times my heart would flutter and palpitate and I would take such weak spells in the pit of my stomach that I sometimes thought I would never get better. I had almost given up hope when a friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I did not stop until I had taken twenty-five boxes. It has done wonders for me and I want to recommend it to everyone."

The Radio and Geography

Large Radio Stations Assist in Transmitting Time Signals

The whole earth is beginning to be fairly well harnessed up with networks of both communication and measurement; much filling remains to be done, but above all the large lines must be accurately measured. Originally the distances between the continents could only be measured when cables were laid and it required the undivided service of a whole cable during periods of time comparison—an expensive process. Now large radio stations transmit some system of time signals, preferably either seconds beats or a scientific vernier series as do the French stations, and these are received at the various observatories of the world where accurate clocks are maintained and frequent star observations are used to check them. Differences of longitude are deduced from these almost daily throughout the year and the results show very interesting systematic cyclic changes of a fraction of a second which are far above any errors to be expected from either the clocks or observations, and these are being studied by international co-operation among the observatories. In this work the Dominion Observatory is taking an active part.

Urges Action By Powers

British Suggestion For Restoring Normal Conditions in China

Joint action by the powers is under consideration to have been suggested by Great Britain as a means of restoring normal conditions along the Chinese coast and on the great rivers, then which the export cities are located.

The British suggestion, as understood here, would contemplate the use of a limited extent of naval resources, but would not necessarily involve the military forces.

The British suggestion is understood to have been a result of conferences in Peking following the recent bandit activities in China, and the American minister is said to have opposed any action which would weaken the already wavering Chinese government. A dispatch from Tokyo indicated that Japan also was inclined not to favor any naval demonstration.

Voluntary Wheat Pool Will Be Formed By Saskatchewan G. G. A.

Regina.—Steps towards the formation of a voluntary wheat pool in time for the crop of this year have been decided upon by the Executive of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association after a long discussion extended over two days. The following announcement was made through the Secretary, J. H. McNeill:

"A special meeting of the Executive of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association was held in the central office of the association on Tuesday and Wednesday, July 17 and 18, for the purpose of considering the question of the formation of a voluntary wheat pool.

"After a full consideration of the whole question and after entering with heart and grain experts the following resolution was passed:

"Whereas we regret it was found impossible to bring into operation a wheat board and realizing the wide spread demand among farmers for a cooperative wheat pool, resolved that we proceed to organize a provincial wheat pool for the marketing of this year's crop looking towards the fullest measure of inter-provincial cooperation."

"A committee will be appointed and immediate steps are being taken to organize and put into operation a voluntary pool in time for the handling of this year's crop."

As the arrival of Aaron Sapiro, the Californian fruit marketing expert, is pending the question was put to the secretary whether this man would be called in by the Grain Growers' Association.

"We are not calling him in," was the reply. It is understood, too, that there is no connection at present between the efforts of the Grain Growers' Association and those of the newer organization, the Farmers' Union, but that the Grain Growers will work upon their own scheme.

Would Build Wireless Station In England

Eastern Telegraph Company Has Applied for License

London.—Replying to questions in the House of Commons, the postmaster-general, Sir Laming Worthington Evans, said the Eastern Telegraph Company had applied for a license to build a high power station in England in connection with an Empire wireless chain. The company said the matter has the same chance of obtaining a license as the Marconi Company, so far as the Government is concerned. The question of building corresponding stations in India or the Dominions would be for the Governments concerned to settle.

It was announced that a site of 800 acres has been purchased by the Post Office Department near Rugby for a high power wireless station, which will cost about £50,000.

Britain Not Obligated To Tell Naval Plans

Retained Full Freedom of Action Regarding Singapore Base

London.—The proposed extra facilities at the British naval base in Singapore were not made known to the other nations at the Washington armament conference, and there was no reason why they should have been, questions were told in the House of Commons by Lieut.-Col. L. S. Amery, First Lord of the Admiralty.

It was clearly understood by all the delegates at Washington, he said, that Great Britain was not bound to freedom of action as regards Singapore, which had always been a naval and military station. The proposal for the base were first approved in June, 1902.

Reviving Smuggling Along English Coast

Business of Hundred Years Ago Is Again Profitable

London.—Cross channel smuggling, once a feature of the Napoleonic wars, is reviving along the English coast. A depreciated French exchange and reduced coinage forces have made smuggling profitable again, and lately stretches of the Kent and Sussex coasts are again a scene of upward of a hundred yards, about the crests of neutral lands running.

Up to this year the greatest trouble of the revenue protective officers was with German ships, the smuggling craft making it well worth while for a crew to smuggle goods up to the Thames.

But since a German steamer was fined five million marks in London last January for smuggling brandy and liquors there has been little of this traffic carried on.

Racing Sheets Imports

Ottawa.—Federal legislation passed at the recent session of Parliament, prohibiting the import into Canada of racing sheets, is being enforced by the action of the customs department. It is stated. It was said that the department had information that such sheets were still coming into Canada from the United States, and that a statement would be forthcoming shortly.

Trade Reprisals War Between Canada And U.S. Now Being Predicted

DEMAND BRANCH LINES

THINK GOVERNMENT SHOULD AUTHORIZE EXPENDITURE FOR PROPOSED EXTENSIONS

Saskatoon.—A resolution calling upon Premier Macdonald King to authorize the expenditure necessary for the construction of the proposed Canadian National branch lines was carried at a meeting of the Saskatchewan Associated Boards of Trade Executive. It says the money for the branch lines should be taken out of the appropriation of $15,000,000 voted to the Canadian National by Parliament, or from public funds.

Veterans Received By King

Delegates to Service League Conference Introduced By Earl Haig

London.—Delegates to the British Empire Service League, were received by the King at Buckingham Palace. The delegates represent all parts of the Empire. They were introduced by Field-Marshal Earl Haig, President of the League.

The Majesty spoke a few words to each of the men present and recalled memories of various outposts of the Empire which he had visited. He thanked the League for a loyal message which it had presented to him.

Turks Content With Peace Treaty Terms

Not dangerous to National Interests, Pasha Informed Government

Constantinople.—The questions of concessions of foreign companies and withdrawal of warships from the straits, raised formally by the recent conference at Lausanne, were settled in a manner not dangerous to the national interests and without prejudice to the economic independence of Turkey. The Turkish Government announced that it had been informed by Ismet Pasha. The Government consequently authorized the head of the delegation to sign the peace treaty.

New York.—A "war of trade reprisals" between Canada and the United States is predicted by the New York World if the pulp wood embargo authorized by the Canadian Parliament is put into force. The World declares the embargo would mean the closing of many United States mills along the border, containment of other mills and the transfer of "another big fraction" of the paper industry to Canada, as well as "war-time prices" for paper and cellulose.

"It would mean more than this. Prevention of the embargo would undoubtedly start a new war of trade reprisals between the two countries. Retaliatory measures from this side would begin with coal oil supplies and other necessary supplies for Canadian mills and extend beyond. No one would be helped in the end. Both sides would be hurt and ill-will engendered all around."

The World declares the situation calls for reconsideration of the war of trade situation as between Canada and the United States. "We have to remember that the Fordey-McCumber tariff has Canada a hard blow and is largely preposterous of Canada's present action. It merits. Concessions are called for from our side as well as from their side."

Britain Recapturing Trade

Exports to Brazil Surpass American First Time Since War

Rio de Janeiro.—American exports to Brazil, according to figures published by the Federal Department of Commercial Statistics, were surpassed by British shipments last year for the first time since the beginning of the world war. The total value of American exports to this country in 1925 was almost equal to that of the year before hostilities began in Europe, but less than one-quarter of the total reached in the high tide year of 1919.

The recovery for this tremendous decrease in Brazilian imports of American products, according to opinions expressed by business representatives here, are the unfavorable exchange rates on Brazilian money, the relatively higher cost of doing business confronting American exporters, and the general retrenchment in Brazil.

Form Miniature Pool

Group of Southern Alberta Farmers Will Cooperate in Marketing Crop

Lethbridge.—Twenty-three Southern Alberta farmers, driven to desperation by increasing wheat prices, are planning on forming their own wheat pool. At a meeting in Macleod they took preliminary steps toward joining the Pincher Creek Cooperative Association, which, in addition to handling produce, has made money for its members in contracted wheat selling, even on a very small scale. The miniature pool will include farmers in the Pincher Creek, Claresholm, Grange, Macleod and Glenwoodville districts. The meeting was attended by but a dozen members of the Provincial Legislature, Hon. A. L. McPherson, Speaker of the Alberta House, being in the chair. At the same meeting the western grain route to Vancouver was endorsed.

Canada Losing Population

3,525 Mechanics Went From Canada to States in May

Ottawa.—Further migration of skilled labor in the United States is shown by the United States Department of Immigration statistics received here.

During May 3,525 skilled Canadian mechanics entered the United States as compared with 36 skilled American mechanics who came to Canada in the same period.

The total number of Canadians who migrated to the United States during May was 18,658, of whom 7,722 were women.

Skilled technicians to the number of 2,501 came to Canada from Great Britain during the same month.

HEAVY LOSS FROM STORM

DAMAGE FROM CYCLONE IN LUNDSEN AREA MAY EXCEED MILLION DOLLARS

Regina.—Survey of property and crop damage in Lundsen and Tuxford districts, hit by the recent cyclone, indicates the loss will exceed a million dollars.

Eight people were injured, one seriously, in the tornado which cut a narrow and erratic path from west to east, starting at Lundsen through the Marquis and Tuxford districts into the valley west of Lundsen, out of the valley south of Lundsen, out to the Plapot Reserve, going as far east as Wapalpa.

In the valley it was wind and wind alone, which caused buildings to be torn from their foundations and houses and telephone poles snapped under like matches. But at Tuxford the wind was combined with a terrible hailstorm.

Crop damage will be very heavy. Rain, driven by relentless wind, drove crops into the ground at Lundsen. Hail accomplished the same effect at Tuxford and, in a lesser degree, at Marquis.

South African Premier Will Champion Peace

General Smuts Tells Congress of His Intentions

Pretoria.—Natal.—At the opening of the South African parliament, Premier Smuts, of the South African Union, referring to the troubles in Europe, declared if Europe does not recover and those great markets, which are particularly British markets do not recover, a terrible situation will arise for Great Britain with its population of thirty-five million. General Smuts proceeded to pay a remarkable tribute to Premier Baldwin, adding: "He is a simple, sincere and straight English gentleman with no nonsense about him."

He reversed his intention to fight on behalf of South Africa a body for peace at the Imperial Conference.

Says Nova Scotia Miners Should Remain Loyal to Union

Ottawa.—"The miners of Nova Scotia will do well to remain loyal to their international union. By giving their full support to the new provincial president, Billy Barrett, and thus frustrate the efforts of J. B. MacLellan and his colleagues to destroy the solidarity of their organization." Tom Moore, President of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, stated. The ill-fated strike has retarded the efforts made by organized labor to have the militia removed from the strike area.

OUR POSITION ON THE NOVEMBER REFERENDUM

The coming vote on the liquor question is one that is taking a large place in the minds of the people these days. It is one which means a great change in the affairs of the province and the people in it in many ways. However as far as any expression one way or the other is concerned the Pioneer wishes to make it clear that they are not trying to influence the people in one way or the other. A few clippings may be inserted from time to time with the intention only of keeping the public informed as to the various activities of either side but no editorial opinions will be expressed.

Some people have conceived a policy for publishing some propaganda issued by the Moderation League of Alberta. However we wish to put this matter clearly before them and feel that they will understand our position. In the first place, as everyone knows, or should know, we are running this paper for two reasons, (1) to serve the public, and (2) to ourselves.
As far as the service is concerned we do our best, as far as profit is concerned it is mostly lacking.
Therefore when the Moderationists placed their advertising through the proper channels and agreed to pay cash for their advertising we naturally accepted it. It was business and their ads were not the opinions expressed by us. On the other hand the Prohibition party had every bit the same chance to use the columns of our paper as an advertising medium and we would most certainly be glad to handle it, on the same basis as far as we are concerned, purely business. But, as of the Moderation League, their views are not necessarily ours because we print their paid advertisements.

So that as far as the statements published by either party in their ads are concerned, we leave it strictly up to the individual to take them or leave them as they wish and as both parties will probably be raising their question before the public in future it would be well to follow up both sides and form your own opinion from an unbiased standpoint.

WHEAT POOL
Sign-Up Week Aug. 20 - 25

Alta has decided to have a voluntary Wheat Pool. The Government, the U. F. A., farmers outside the U. F. A., the business men of towns and cities, all classes are united in favoring a Wheat Pool as the surest method of improving marketing conditions—of helping the farmer—of increasing the general prosperity of everybody in this Province.

A provincial Wheat Pool Committee has been named, and has been working out the details of operation, including contract, financing and so forth.

This committee is confident about the outcome, provided that farmers themselves show now—now that they have a chance to get it—that they actually want a wheat pool, and are ready to go into one.

How can that be shown? In one way only. By signing up with the pool. By signing the contract.

Contract Sign-up Week has been fixed to begin August 20th. In that week it is hoped to reach every farmer in Alberta. Unless 50 per cent of the farmers sign the contracts there will be no Pool. This is your opportunity. If you want the Pool, sign the contract. If you don't want the Pool, refuse to sign, and there will be no Pool. There is no half-way about it. Signing means success. No signing means, go on as you have been going.

Contract forms and all information are being sent to the U. F. A. Secretary in your district, your local M. L. A., Board of Trade and town officers. Give your name as a worker.
Find out what you have to do. Get your neighbors in. Fast work is required now to get into operation this year. Cover your district thoroughly.

Here's your chance to get a real Wheat pool. Seize it.

Moderation League of Alberta
Suggestions To Voters

The Moderation League of Alberta submits for the consideration of the electorate of this Province:

- 1 That the Prohibition Act now in force in this Province has lamentably failed in the purpose for which it was enacted, because intemperance cannot be eliminated by legal enactment, but by moral suasion and education.
- 2 Because Prohibition puts all kinds of liquor in the same class and treats all the same way.

From the standpoint of intoxication, strong alcoholic drinks, needless to say, are the most dangerous, and prohibiting the use of them without the strong support of a large majority of citizens, leads to their illegal sale and illicit distilling, so prevalent now in Alberta.

The use of a light beer as a beverage will put the average man a reasonable distance from the temptation of strong drink, as light beer stimulates without inebriating. This is just what "D" will accomplish if approved of by a majority of Alberta citizens.
A vote for "D" is a vote to eliminate boot-legging and illicit stills.

Here and There

A discovery of excellent ochre (raw silica) was recently made near Ellerslie Station on the Dominion Atlantic Railway. The color is uniform throughout, with very little gritty matter in the main body. The material can be burnt to produce a variety of colors from reddish brown to black. Prospecting is still going on.

Canadian Pacific S.S. "Metagama" westbound from Glasgow via Belfast, recently docked at Montreal and Quebec with the record number of 382 cabin and 1,078 third class passengers. They constituted a record only for ships of the size and type of the "Metagama," the Canadian Pacific Express liners often having a far larger list.

Canadian Pacific Railway officials estimated that 61,000 men would be required to harvest the western crops this year. They expected to supply only 9,000 from the prairie provinces and British Columbia and made arrangements to carry over 50,000 from Ontario, Quebec and the east.

United States factories turn out chewing gum to the value of $41,000,000 annually. The extent to which this product is used in this country can be appreciated when it is known that the Canadian Pacific Windsor station, Montreal, a man is continually employed in removing gum stains from the marble floor.

Despite the fact that the new Basilica at Ste. Anne de Beaupre is still in course of construction, many thousands more have visited the shrine this year than in former years, and at frequent intervals the Canadian Pacific Railway has been called upon to add special equipment to its regular trains to accommodate the pilgrims. The Redemptorist Fathers are investing in the number of cures claimed to be miraculous.

E. L. Richardson, manager of the Calgary Stampede of 1923, held under the patronage of the Prince of Wales and Governor-General Bnrg, announces that, owing to the enormous success of the great rodeo, July 9-14 it will be staged annually instead of at intervals of several years, as heretofore. The recent Stampede was attended by 137,800 people.

Only once in the history of Canada was the gold production record set in 1922 exceeded, and that was in 1900, when the Yukon placers reached the peak of their yield. During 1922, 1,263,394 ounces of gold were mined in the Dominion. The value is set at $26,116,000, an increase of 35% over the previous year's figure. In 1900, 1,550,007 ounces of gold were mined and the value was $27,908,153.

Canada's trade is climbing ahead. Total trade in the three months ending June was $422,443,8, an increase of $10,841,056 over the corresponding three months of last year. For June alone total trade was $170,720,316, an increase of $44,944,732 over last year. Domestic exports in the three months increased approximately $50,000,000 and imports approximately $61,000,000.

What is Wrong With Prohibition

Much is being said and written these days on both sides of the liquor question. It is amusing yet so very pathetic to note what certain people blame Prohibition for.

Some go so far as to place the blame for the deficit in the Provincial treasury for 1922 to loss of revenues by Prohibition. Where is the logic in that charge?

Again the old worn out charge is made that Prohibition is the father of bootlegging. When will men get through caring what has been shown over and over again to be a fallacy? British Columbia overthrew Prohibition in part because Prohibition was blamed for bootlegging. The fact is that in B. C. right now bootlegging flourishes as never before. Our authority for this statement is first hand evidence given to us recently by one who knows. The following is the evidence. "In one city in B. C. with a population of about 5000, more drunks can be seen on the streets every Saturday night than could be seen on the streets of Calgary during the whole period of the last exhibition. And in the same city in B. C. there are known to be at least forty (40) bootleg hotels." This informant also stated that others have said, that in many places held in B. C. the debauchery due to drunkenness makes it practically impossible for decent people to be present.

Now if Prohibition is to blame for bootlegging we would naturally expect this evil, which the moralists deplore so much, to disappear in B. C. The cold fact is that it is growing.

A vote for 'D' in the coming referendum would make possible and probable a situation in Alberta at least as bad probably worse than we find in B. C. now.

On the other hand there are facts in favor of the continuance and development of Prohibition that cannot be successfully disputed. Judge Gary, chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation, the largest employer of labor in that country, gives us the following conclusive argument in favor of Prohibition, that will apply with equal force in Alberta.

I have no hesitation in saying with emphasis that the Volstead act and state laws for prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors has been very beneficial to the industry of this country and to the workers connected with it and their families. While there have been violations of these laws, particularly in the larger cities, yet as a total result of the prohibitory laws there has been a large decrease in the use of liquor, at least in the vicinity of our various plants throughout the country. There has been a noteworthy decrease in the number of fatal accidents and hospitalizations. There has been an increase and a large increase in the bank balances of savings deposits. The health of the people has improved. The families of workmen are better clothed and better treated. The attendance of the workmen and their families at church of the country, in schools and of all sorts of other legitimate, healthful resorts and places of amusement, has materially increased. The rate and use of automobiles has been largely increased by the fact that a large majority of the workmen now prefer to take excursions with their families instead of spending their money at the saloons or other places, and wasting their money in practices that are physically injurious and of no benefit.

Judge Gary said that at a meeting of steel men recently one of them stated that the families of his workmen in the steel mills would vote with practical unanimity in favor of total prohibition. He added that, all in all, there is no doubt that a large preponderance of the workmen of the United States are in favor of total prohibition of the sale and use of all intoxicants from the standpoint of good morals, good economics and peaceful social relations.

We have confidence that thoughtful men and women who have heard the true welfare of the country and our citizens will vote 'A' on November 5th.

Prohibition Committee.

Rev. W. Denbo.

Vice-President Grant Hall Says Big Crop is Assured

Speaks with enthusiasm of Western Conditions in light of twenty-five years' experience—Big Company adds miles of new Rolling Stock to take care of grain movement

Twenty-five years intimate and continuous acquaintance with Western Canada would give any man the right to speak authoritatively of conditions there, and when that man is Grant Hall, Vice-President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, his views will be accepted without question wherever published.

Grant Hall has just returned from a tour of inspection over the line. He has been all through the West and he returns to Montreal full of enthusiasm about Western crop conditions, and quite realizing the magnitude of the task that his before the railroads in moving this crop.

It was agreed that last year's handling of the crop left no room for criticism. The tremendous task of moving out the grain was handled in splendid style by the railroads, and there is every indication the same thing will happen this year.

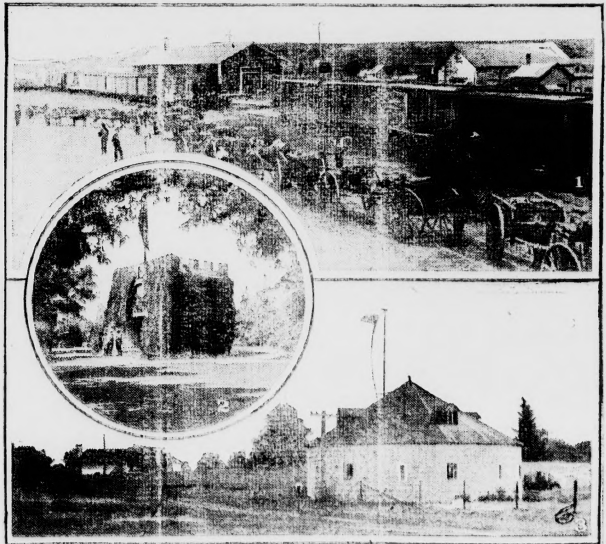

Grant Hall, interviewed on his return to Montreal, said: "The Canadian Pacific is preparing to move the grain and we expect to keep up to all our previous records in that line. It was fortunate for Canada that the company months ago decided to largely add to its rolling stock. The Canadian Pacific is this year building 30 engines and 2,600 new freight cars or practically forty freight trains of fifty cars each, enough equipment to have moved the entire western crop of a few years ago. This new equipment will be on hand to do its share of the work this year."

Mr. Hall makes no prediction as to the actual yield, but of the present conditions he says: "In the long term of years in which I have watched the development of the grain crop I feel safe in saying that never have I been quite so enthusiastic about the prospects. Generally at this time of year there are many reports of damage by drought or rust or hot winds, but so far we have had no such reports and we are having our plans to move the largest crop in the history of the west. My trip has covered practically all the grain growing west, leaving Winnipeg we went south to Souris and through southern Saskatchewan to Shaunavon and returning to Assiniboia, we came back to the main line and followed it to Calgary from Moose Jaw. At Calgary we visited the stampee and I should say it was a pronounced success. Going north from Regina we visited Saskatoon and came in by the north line through Brandon. The crop is uniformly fine growth the crops are a great sight and unless some untoward calamity overtakes us we shall see a splendid harvest this year."

W. GRANT HALL, Vice-President of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

BY THE RED RIVER

(1) A train of Red River carts laden with furs that travel down Pasture Avenue, the longest street in the world, from Fort Edmonton to the Canadian Pacific yards, Winnipeg.

NOT long since, Fort Gary was the point of contact between the traders and hunters of the plains—the bartering point of the great fur country to the west. The fur traders flocked around the fort, snatching every opportunity for trade and exchange. Within a stone's throw of Fort Gary, was begun the foundation of the city of Winnipeg. The lake sixty miles to the north had long since been named "Winnipeg," a corruption of the Ojibwa word "Win-nipig" or "Winnipeg," meaning "Win"—marky, and "Nipi"—water, so the name was adopted for the new metropolis.

Across the river was the old Catholic settlement of St. Boniface and one ranges up and down the corridors of time and history, walking its streets, overshadowed by great, old trees, gazing in the mellowed cathedral and buildings, with the imprint of time on them. It was as early as 1817 that a band of French soldiers made their headquarters at Point Douglas and established St. Boniface.

There are now over 800 miles of streets in Winnipeg and many of the names are rich in history.

Fort, still in need repair. suggestion, such as Portage Avenue, Logan Avenue, the Lord Selkirk Highway, the Fort Gary drive. These famous driveways lure the visitor and resident alike and none are more popular than the Fort Gary drive with its sylvan trails and leafy shades through "Wildwood" where the roads follow the serpentine windings of the Red River.

Branching off to the Pembina Highway to the fine new Agricultural college a fine road leads to the quaint town of St. Norbert with its dominating red brick and church spire. The most interesting place in this "Bit of Quebec" is the open air church, nestled in a grove of Manitoba maples, alms and oaks. With its candles always burning and the altar brilliant in its sylvan setting.

Beyond is the Trappist monastery at a point where the La Salle joins the Red River. Turning onto the Lord Selkirk Highway, through a district of rich historic interest, leads into North Winnipeg by way of Old St. John's—its college sombre, its vine-clad cathedral restful and its lovely old graveyard a mass of summer bloom, the last resting place of many of the young Canadians who fell in the Red rebellion.

CHAPTER XX.

Exiled But Still Daring

When Trowbridge left Dorothy had promised to find him and had taken her, but he did not assume a confidence that he was far from feeling. No man here could be so confident as to tell that he did, and he realized that there was at best only a meager chance of finding the man who had succeeded in trapping his victim somewhere in the mountains. A warden would have been in duty bound at the hopelessness of the task he had undertaken, but Lem Trowbridge was neither a warden nor a feeling citizen, or of acknowledging hopelessness. Thus enough for all that after he should have failed. In the meantime it was up to him to follow Moran. He had learned from Sam of the place where Wade was tracked down, but now he had to find out in what direction he had been taken, was a matter of conjecture only, and the only way to learn was to find the party that had undoubtedly carried the helpless man away perhaps to his death, but more probably to hold him captive.

Despite as he knew Moran to be, he did not believe that the immediate murder of Gordon Wade was planned. That would be too strategy and too

BEFORE MY BABY CAME

I Was Greatly Benefited by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sydney, Ont.—"I took your medicine before my baby was born and it was a great help to me as I was very poorly until I had started to take it. Just left me though I was tired out all the time and would have fainted, faint really. My nerves would bother me as I could get little sleep at night or day. I was told by a friend to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it only took a few bottles and I felt so wonderfully. I would recommend it to any woman. I am doing what I can to recommend this good medicine. I will send that little book you sent me to any girl or woman. You can with the great ease of pleasure use my name in regard to the Vegetable Compound if it will help others take it."—Mrs. HARRIS MILLER, Sydney, Ont.

It is remarkable how many cases have been reported similar to this one. Many women are poorly at such times and get into a weakened, run-down condition, when it is essential to the mother, as well as the child, that for strength be kept up.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for mother at this time. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs and contains no harmful drugs. It has been taken in safety by the nursing mother.

N. D. U. 1422

as was too shrewd in that fashion. It seemed clear enough that party of some sort was intended but knowing both Wade and Moran as he did, Trowbridge realized that in order to be of any assistance, he must be on the spot without delay. He had planned and he now acted rapidly.

One of his men was stationed at the pine, as he had told Dorothy, but all the others in his employ rode with him as swiftly as the best horses on his ranch could carry them, to the spot Sam had told him of. There they found unmistakable traces of a fall a dozen or more horses, besides the footprints of Wade's mount, and a brief examination was enough to show which way the party had gone. Trowbridge had taken Wade with them, so the pursuing party followed.

It was one thing to follow, however, and another thing to overtake. Moran was better versed in the intricacies of the chase than in that of the wilderness, but he was shrewd enough to realize that Wade's friends would start an instant search, as soon as they should miss the ranchman, and it was no part of his plans to be taken by surprise.

Therefore, as soon as he had his victim thrown into the prison from which escape seemed impossible, Moran selected a camp site nearby, from which he had a view of the surrounding country for miles around in every direction, and reaching the horizon carefully after his vain attempt to intimidate Wade, he saw Trowbridge's party approaching while they were still half a dozen miles away.

His first thought was to stay where he was and give the battle of the wills, but he had a good chance of victory, by opening fire on Trowbridge and his followers as they came up, he could undoubtedly have picked off three or four of them before they reached him, and on second sides in his favor, it should come to an immediate encounter.

Second thought, however, showed him the only way out of this. There was too much remaining for him to do, and the temporary advantage he might gain would not compensate him for the havoc it would make in his ultimate designs. He therefore called to his men and said: "Follow a party of Wade's friends coming up from the East, looking for him, and I've got to lead them away. You stay here, but keep in hiding and take care that nobody learns where Wade is. Still fire on a few days, without grain and I'll come back and tend to his case after I've got this party going round in circles."

You stay, and the rest of us will all ride off to the north, and there'll be no more Wade with us, so they'll follow us, but we'll lose them somewhere on the way. Safe?"

Neale demurred at first to the plan, but consented willingly enough when Moran promised him extra pay, so he stayed, and we already know the result. Moran, however, followed his plans successfully enough, and before night he reached Crawling Water in safety, while Trowbridge, getting word through one of his scouts of Wade's rescue, abandoned the pursuit. He was determined to shoot Moran down at sight, but he was ready enough to leave that work to the man who was a better claim to the privilege than he had.

Accordingly Moran had ridden into his camp, he was followed by his men and had shot for twelve hours before thinking of anything else, he had learned of everything of all that had happened during his absence, he was furious with rage. His baby had been arrested and was on his way to Crawling Water in custody. Senator Rehill and Helen had taken an Eastward-bound train without leaving any word for him, and to crown it he presently learned that Neale had been shot and Wade had been found, and that the whole countryside was aflame with indignation.

It was characteristic of the man that even in his darkest hour he had thought of following his cowardly accomplice in flight. It might be hopeless to attack and fight, but he was a fighting man, and he really exulted in the thought of the inevitable struggle that was coming.

Sitting alone in his office studying the situation he felt the need of light, even more strongly than usual, though the light had grown on him of late, and accordingly he drank again and again, increasing his rage thereby, but getting little help towards a solution of his difficulties.

He was enraged most of all at Wade's escape from Cowan's granges and was still puzzled to think how this had happened, for Senator Rehill had pointed, and Moran did not dream of his having betrayed the secret.

Not only had the ranchman been able to turn another trick in the game by escaping, but he had also escaped Moran's intended vengeance, for the latter had had no thought of letting his prisoner go alive. He had meant first to remove Wade's signature and then to make away with him so cleverly as to escape detection to the net.

He realized now, when it was too late, that he had acted too deliberately in that matter and was sorry for it. He considered the departure of the Rehill's a cowardly defection. He was furious to think that Helen had refused to listen to him while she stayed, or to say goodbye to him before leaving. The sting at these various defections led him to take for his part at a silver flask which he kept in his pocket, and which bore the inscription, "To Mark Moran from the friends of the Murray Hill Club."

"Ho," he muttered, clanking his mustache, "that's what I get for sticking to Rehill!" Leaning back in his swivel chair, he put his feet up on the desk and hooked his fingers in the arches of his vest. "Well, it isn't ready to run yet, not by a far.".

In his decision to remain, however, he was accused by a desire to live with Wade, and not by any enthusiasm for the cause of the hired rascals who were so loudly singing their wiles. They were not cowards, nor was he, but he had had too much experience with such men to be deluded into believing that, when the showdown came, they would think of anything but their own precious skins. He had heard rumors of the activity of the cattleman, but he discounted such rumors because of many false rumors in the past. He would not frighten off, he determined to remain until there was an actual clash of arms, in the hope that events would so work out as to allow him a chance to get back, and severely, at Wade.

He got to his feet and rolled about the room, like a booby sailor, puffing out volumes of smoke and muttering senile remarks to himself. When he worked off some of his agitation, the big fellow settled himself again, shrugging his massive shoulders, and lapsed into an alcoholic reverie. He was applying his inflamed brain to the problem of vengeance, when hurried footsteps on the stairs aroused him. Going to the door, he flung it open and peered out into the dimly lighted hallway.

"Hello, Jed!" he exclaimed, upon finding that the newcomer was none other than his "What d'you want?" He straightened up with a sudden assumption of gravity.

"The night riders," they've come. The man was breathless and visibly pale with excitement.

"Riders?" He. "What riders?" Moran growled. "But with it, you jelly-bell!"

"The ranchers, the cattleman— they've entered the town; they're on the warpath. Already a lot of our fellows have been shot and killed."

"The hell they have! How long ago?"

"The other end of town. Must be two hundred or more. I hustled down here to put you wise to the play."

"Thanks," said Moran, icingly. "You've headed in the right direction, keep going!"

He is Edwin Hughes, troop sergeant-major of the 12th Hussars, and is the only person now surviving and from the Balachava Fund which was organized shortly after the Crimean War to support the widows and children of the non-commissioned officers and to provide old age pensions for the officers.

Great Things Can Be Accomplished by Misers of Time

Martin Luther published nearly a whole library of books. When asked how he found time to translate the Bible, in addition to all of his other work, he replied: "I do a little every day."

The famous "Pipkin's Progress" was written by John Lanyon while he was imprisoned in Bedford Jail. He improved minutes that night have wasted.

Sir Walter Raleigh was another miser of time. He spent the years of his imprisonment in the Tower of London by writing, "The History of the World," a standard work for all time. Dr. Huxley, misanthrope, learned the French and Italian languages while travelling on horseback from one music hall to another.

CHEER-UP CLUB

A very enjoyable afternoon was spent at the above Club, on Saturday last. The weather was ideal for sport and about 30 members were present. The fun began at 3 p. m. when Jessie Vipond and Paige Houston picked sides for a game of basketball, the latter's side won after an exciting game. Then tennis commenced, Eric Sworn and Harvey Hesegeod playing Ted Lonegan and Chris Daniel, the latter side won by six games to two. Ted and Chris are recent arrivals from Australia and are having a look around the world they are now on the ranches of Mr. Bird and Mrs. Oliver respectively and intend spending the winter in these parts.

A challenge match was then played, Miss Worthington, who is up from Calgary, and Eric Sworn of this district playing Ted and Chris. The latter won by 6-0. Then Miss Worthington and Ted Lonegan played Eric Sworn and Chris Daniel, the best named side winning both sets, 6-5 and 6-5 being the scores. The games were very interesting. With a little practice we will have some tennis stars in the Club.

Another game of basketball was then played, Roy Worthington and Ross Young being captains. This game was rather lively, quite a little excitement was caused towards the end of the game, by the latter team making a final effort to equalize the scores, before the game closed, the final score was 8-3, Young's team winning. This game closed the sport, everyone leaving with a smiling face, after an enjoyable afternoon. Don't forget to roll up next Saturday for more real sport.
